ROSEBEN'S SUPREME SPEED

CHAMPION SPRINTER IN HIS OLD-TIME INVINCIBLE FORM AND MUCH ADMIRER.

Madman Wins the Rich Pacific-Union Handicap by a Narrow Margin from Another Outsider.

San Francisco, Cal., December 12.—Roseben's race in the Welch Handicap at Oakland today was easily the outstanding feature of a splendid afternoon's racing. The aged sprinter's victory was remarkable from any viewpoint and the ease with which it was achieved under 135 pounds over the worst course imaginable in the extraordinarily fast time of 1:10.3, had an electrifying effect on the big crowd of spectators present. Prolonged and enthusiastic cheering greeted the wonderful thoroughbred on his return to the judges' stand, men and women flocking around the champion, eager to do him homage. Roseben's speed and weight-carrying ability are genuine revelations to California race-goers; his marvelous exploits are everywhere talked about and he is the biggest attraction in a racing way ever known on the coast.

For the third time the local ring failed to take Davy Johnson's great horse seriously and offered what was considered an absurdly liberal price about him, even though at odds-on. One venturesome small fry layer even laid 1 to 6 to show.

In a monetary way the Pacific-Union Handicap, which had preceded this, was the principal feature of the program. This is the first and only big stake given by the New California Jockey Club for the winter season's two-year-olds exclusively and eleven elected to try conclusions for the rich prize. Its running resulted in a victory for Madman, an outsider in the betting, quoted as high as 20 to 1 at one time. The general opinion prevailed after the race that he was a ridiculously overvalued horse in the ring. Irish support developed at post time and the winner closed at 15 to 1. The start virtually eliminated a conspicuous candidate in Torbellino. He got away pulling up and finished a close seventh in a phenomenal effort. In other respects the race was truly and spectacularly run and developed a thrilling finish. Madman just lasting long enough to beat another extreme outsider in Palo Alto.

Bon Homme was first choice throughout the wagering, but the best he could do was a good third, after enjoying all the good racing luck possible. Eight horses finished closely bunched, Torbellino's effort being conspicuously sensational. The winner was ridden by jockey Walsh, who had just won on Captain Kennedy, another long shot, at 25 to 1. According to report W. E. Applegate, Walsh's employer, recouped on these races the big losses sustained by him during his jockey's recent lapse from good form.

The racing began auspiciously for the speculatively inclined, Madman holding 7 to 10, winning the first and Fillelta, at 9 to 5, the second, neither of the pair ever giving their backers a moment's uneasiness.

STANLEY FAY WINS THE MONROVIA.

Glorio Ties the Record at Three-Quarters—Great Day at Santa Anita.

Los Angeles, Cal., December 12.—Amid tumultuous applause that shook the very pillars of the grandstand, Stanley Fay swept over the line in the Monrovia Handicap a short half length in front of Vox Populi, with Magazine and Edwin T. Fryer lapped on Vox Populi in the order named. The race appeared to be almost any one of the first three's until in the last 100 yards, where Stanley Fay gradually asserted his supremacy. Vox Populi was probably best, but was unlucky in leaving the post slowly and had to go clear around the others for a clear course. He finished gamely under the whip, but was unable to overcome his early handicap. Edwin T. Fryer's effort was a sparkler. He finished with a belated rush after having badly outrun to the stretch. The winner, as is usual in all the big fixtures here, was crowned with a floral wreath. He was well backed by a few admirers just before post time.

The American record for six furlongs, 1:11.4, and held by Nimbus, was equaled by Glorio in the third race. The 11 to 10 favorite, Colquoy, set a killing pace from the start and appeared the winner when a sixteenth out, but here Glorio came through with a sensational rush, overwhelming her in the closing strides. The winner was entirely overlooked in the betting.

The fast time that was scored throughout the day was also evident in the fifth race, taken by the partly handiapped, later favorite, Pretension. The mile was run in 1:37.3, which equals the track record.

A crowd of 5,000 was present and witnessed by far the best card of the meeting. The close finish in the handicap between the first four speaks well for the character of the laws Governor Folk put on the statute books, and the past performances of legislatures naturally impels the belief that it will take a great many more years to get those same laws off the books than it took to put them on.

Phillips is a native of Missouri, and has many relatives residing in that state at the present time. He keeps in touch with affairs political and is of the opinion that the reopening of the tracks at St. Louis and Kansas City is not even remotely possible.

"My hair is as black as the feathers of a crow right now, but it will be as white as the down of a swan before there is organized racing with betting in Missouri," said he. "Every one is acquainted with the character of the laws Governor Folk put on the statute books, and the past performances of legislatures naturally impels the belief that it will take a great many more years to get those same laws off the books than it took to put them on."

Phillips, giving him his first mount on Conner Kelly at Chicago in September, 1903. With the exception of the past season Nicol did nearly all of his riding under the direction of Phillips, and the latter rightly feels that he contributed very largely to the Chicago boy's success in the saddle. Though he no longer holds a contract on Nicol's services, he feels a deep interest in the rider's welfare, and has lately advised him to go abroad next season, if he can secure a good contract.

Since the close of the Baltimore meeting Nicol has been at the home of his mother in Chicago, and the probabilities are that he will spend the winter there. It was his intention to ride in California, but Phillips says he received about two weeks ago an offer to ride in Austria next season, and is now in correspondence on the subject. One of the stipulations in the offer was that he be able to ride as light as 108 pounds whenever called upon to do so. Nicol does not believe he can comfortably do less than 110 another season, and is now seeking to have this weight substituted in the contract. If his Austrian correspondent agrees to this the probabilities are that he will sign to go abroad.

Counting chickens before the hatching. Lexington, Ky., December 12.—Louis A. Cella, in letters recently received here, has said that he expects a revival of the local trainers, among them W. J. Young, J. C. Milam, Jack Baker, Dan Morris and Walter Grater, are making preparations to ship either to Memphis or direct to Hot Springs within the next fortnight.

Many letters have been received by local people from friends in Hot Springs, and the majority are of a very hopeful trend. The impression seems to be general that at the coming session of the Arkansas legislature a beneficiary measure will be passed, unless the track owners themselves put some obstacle in the way through failure to agree upon an equitable division of the dates.

From away down deep comes the information that up to now the interests controlling Oaklawn Park and Essex Park have not been able to reach a tacit understanding. It is said that when J. B. Respass, who has the chief interest in Essex Park, went to Louis A. Cella for an understanding as to dates he was advised that that matter could be attended to later on.

This, it is said, does not entirely suit Respass. He wants to know where he stands before the legislature convenes. Respass, it is said, entertains the belief that the Cella-Condor interest will urge the creation of a racing commission for the state of Arkansas, with the hope and expectation that they can control the commission and secure through it the choice dates for Oaklawn Park.

In the light of what has gone before, it would behoove Mr. Cella and all others concerned to have as little friction as possible, and to make an equitable division of the profits with the Essex Park people. Disagreement between track owners in any form at this time will certainly not help their cause before the Arkansas legislature.

EARNINGS OF THE STABLE OF EDWARD CORRIGAN

As has been his custom for years, Edward Corrigan maintained and raced a big stable of thoroughbreds in 1908. Its success was not commensurate with its numbers. Still the stable earnings were a decided improvement over those of 1907, when the total to his credit was $19,350. Two-year-old fillies of his own breeding were the principal contributors this year, Elizabeth Harwood, with $8,755, leading, and Anne McGee following with $5,189. As a coincidence each started in thirty-six races, of which the former won twelve and the latter eleven, decidedly strenuous work for such young horses. Two of the older stable standbys, John Carroll and Alma Dufour, ran a bit more than usefully, McAllister, Goldway, Creel and Apt also doing well for their owner. All of Mr. Corrigan's horses have been sold and will race under other colors next year. His stable has been prominent in the west and south for more than twenty years and its absence will be felt by his friends and enemies alike. And he has plenty of both. The record of the stable for 1908 is as follows:

CONDENSED HISTORY OF THE PACIFIC UNION HANDICAP

The Pacific-Union Handicap, which was decided yesterday and won by Madman, has been run since 1894. Previous to 1905 it was run at 1 1/8 miles and brought together many capable racers, including Advance Guard, which captured this event in 1900. Changed to a handicap for two-year-olds in 1905 and the value increased to $2,000 added, the Pacific-Union Handicap has proved an interesting feature of the coast racing and was the magnet that attracted the large crowd which witnessed this event yesterday. The record of this race is as follows:

COUNTING CHICKENS BEFORE THE HATCHING.

Lexington, Ky., December 12.—Louis A. Cella, in letters recently received here, has said that he expects a revival of the local trainers, among them W. J. Young, J. C. Milam, Jack Baker, Dan Morris and Walter Grater, are making preparations to ship either to Memphis or direct to Hot Springs within the next fortnight.

Many letters have been received by local people from friends in Hot Springs, and the majority are of a very hopeful trend. The impression seems to be general that at the coming session of the Arkansas legislature a beneficiary measure will be passed, unless the track owners themselves put some obstacle in the way through failure to agree upon an equitable division of the dates.

From away down deep comes the information that up to now the interests controlling Oaklawn Park and Essex Park have not been able to reach a tacit understanding. It is said that when J. B. Respass, who has the chief interest in Essex Park, went to Louis A. Cella for an understanding as to dates he was advised that that matter could be attended to later on.

This, it is said, does not entirely suit Respass. He wants to know where he stands before the legislature convenes. Respass, it is said, entertains the belief that the Cella-Condor interest will urge the creation of a racing commission for the state of Arkansas, with the hope and expectation that they can control the commission and secure through it the choice dates for Oaklawn Park.

In the light of what has gone before, it would behoove Mr. Cella and all others concerned to have as little friction as possible, and to make an equitable division of the profits with the Essex Park people. Disagreement between track owners in any form at this time will certainly not help their cause before the Arkansas legislature.

WILLIAMS NOT IMPORTANTLY INTERESTED.

San Francisco, Cal., December 12.—Thomas H. Williams, president of the California Jockey Club, denied the rumor that he was heavily interested in a racing venture in the City of Mexico and had the following to say regarding that venture:

"I have a very slight interest in the track to be constructed in the City of Mexico. I went into it through my friendship for Alberto Terrazas, who is at the head of the institution. I will take no active part in its operation and I will not be an official of the club.

"Mr. Terrazas is now traveling in Europe and on his return work on the track will be rushed. The new club has a franchise for ten years, with the option of a ten-year extension. While I shall be interested in the venture because of my friendship for the principal owner, I will take no active part. The story that I have any intention of becoming interested in racing in Nevada is entirely without foundation."

CHENAULT'S BARGAIN SALE ENGLISH MARES.

Lexington, Ky., December 12.—O. H. Chenault says he picked up a rare bargain in the half-dozen young English mares he bought at the recent sale of Grant Hugh Browne's thoroughbreds. He got three four-year-olds, Golden Bush, by Oriflamme; Lonely Lady, by Knight of Malta; Lady Dunraven, by Desmond; the six-year-old, Caraceni II., by Carbine; the seven-year-old, Betty Crayne, by St. Hilaire; and the three-year-old, Little Em II., by De-spair. "The six cost me $550," said Mr. Chenault. "but since I have looked them up in the English Stud Book, I would not take ten times that amount for them. I was really a shame that such well-bred mares should have been allowed to go at such prices."

John H. Morris, who was kicked by a mule at Woodburn Farm last week, is gradually recovering the use of his right leg and expects to be able to leave his bed next week. It was reported that his knee cap had been shattered, but this has proved untrue.

John Evans, racing agent for Joseph E. Seagram, the Canadian turfman and distiller, is still here with the nine mares and weanlings purchased at the recent sales. He cannot take them across the Canadian border until the government of the Dominion lifts the quarantine against the track from the United States and has no idea when that will be.

C. W. Moore is delighted with McGee, the imported stallion he bought for only $1,300 at the Corrigan sale, and says he would not take $5,000 for him. "I like him much better than I did Ingoldby, and I thought a lot of him," said Mr. Moore. "I bought Ingoldby from Major Dainkerfeldt at Castle Stud and once refused an offer of $15,000 for him from J. N. Camden. They told me that McGee was a nervous, fretful horse and that he was given to climbing up in his stall. I have not found him so. I have made his stall as inviting as possible by giving him plenty of light and letting him look out in any direction at any time. I have put a goat in with him and he has remained perfectly quiet. I have him ridden for exercise about two hours every day. His disposition is as good as that of any stallion I ever saw."

"Dick" Wilson, who bought Maceo from J. B. Respass this week, says he intends that the son of Sir Dixon and Katydil shall make a season here. He will probably send him to his brother Garrett's Ironhorse Stud.

THE LATEST DECISION ON BETTING.

Frankfort, Ky., December 12.—In the opinion of the Appellate Court, as indicated in its decision handed down yesterday in the case of R. M. McDevitt against R. L. Thomas, betting on horse races is not "gaming" within the meaning of the statute of this state.

The opinion was handed down by Judge Lassing, of which the following is the most interesting part: "The words betting and wagering have a much broader and more comprehensive meaning than the word 'gaming.' They are unrestricted in their scope, and it is immaterial whether the subject of the wager is one denominated or prohibited by the statute or not. The object of the wager may be and frequently is a perfectly innocent pastime or a legally authorized act, such as the test of the speed of animals or men, or the result of an election, or it may be based upon a mere matter of opinion or the exercise of judgment, such as the height of a mountain, the width of a river, the distance of an object or the weight of any given article.

"Hence it is immaterial what the wager or bet is about, the purpose of the statute is to discourage betting or wagering by declaring all contracts relative thereto void, and by this means lessen what is generally regarded as a social evil. This statute imposes no punishment for the violation of its provisions, but simply provides that all contracts defensible hereon shall be void, and the law will not lend its aid looking to the enforcement of any such. The subject matter of this litigation fell clearly within Section 1955 of the Kentucky Statutes as indicated, and the appellee having pleaded this act in order to evade the payment of his debt, we are of the opinion that the trial judge did not err in giving peremptory instructions for the defendant."

The decision means that no gambling debt can be collected, but the Appellate Court regards such a contract a debt.

VISITING HIS NATIVE LAND.

New York, December 12.—D. Reiff, an elder brother of Johnny and Lester Reiff, who has been abroad for over ten years, is here for a short visit to this country. For a time the elder Reiff was connected with the stable of Richard Croker, but he has done most of his training in Italy and France. Reiff has now established himself at Chantilly and will race a stable of his own in 1909. Harry Graham, who has had considerable success in training steeplechase horses, has accepted an engagement to train a large stable of cross-country horses in England next year.

T. L. Watt has eight of his horses at Sheephead Bay for the winter. In charge of trainer Booker, five yearlings, which have been highly tried and found very promising. The older horses are Moonshine, Harlem Maid and Home Again.

HAVANA'S WINTER MEETING

ATTENDANCE MODERATE THE FIRST WEEK, BUT STEADY IMPROVEMENT IS EXPECTED.

Peculiarities of the Almandares Race Track—President Gomez an Enthusiast—Many Useful Horses in the Racing.

Havana, Cuba, December 7.—The winter racing season in Cuba began on Tuesday last at the Almandares course. The meeting is scheduled to run for fifty days and is given under the auspices of the Cuban Racing Association. Racing is new to the Cubans and it will take some time to work up the sport here to a paying basis. The track is located in a suburb of Havana called Almandares, from which it takes its name. There is a good trolley service to the course, which is about three or four miles from the city. The plant was erected by the Cubans and is rather a crude affair. The original plan of the promoters was to erect a monster race course patterned after the lines of Belmont Park. The local people failed to respond in the manner expected when subscriptions to the stock were asked for and the result was a complete change in the construction. The track itself is a mile and a furlong and 100 yards in circumference. The grandstand is a wooden structure, with the betting enclosure in the lower portion. The paddock and stalls are open affairs built so as to give the horses plenty of fresh air. This is very necessary in this climate, as the weather is extremely hot on some days.

On the opening day the attendance was good, but on the two days following a small crowd turned out to witness the races. Saturday, however, brought a decided improvement, and on Sunday about 4,000 people were present. While it is doubtful if the present meeting will be a successful one financially, still it is almost a certainty that in a few years racing will be a big thing in Havana. The people here are not well up on the sport, and the present plant is not just what they want. The better element of Cubans go in for everything on a grand scale. Many of them have visited the race courses at New York and Saratoga and they expect the same accommodations here that they get there. On the opening day last season the plant was in a half completed state and many of the ladies who attended the races on that occasion had their hand-some gowns ruined by the fine red clay dust which was blown in clouds from the track. The Cuban Racing Association has but little idea of how a race meeting should be conducted, and the present management has to overcome the mistakes made last season. The racing end of the sport this winter is being looked after by F. W. Gerhardt, and Joseph McLennan and the meeting is being financed by Messrs. Smith & Perry. The latter gentlemen are up against it here. Conditions were grossly misrepresented to them. On their arrival they found that the track was in a half completed state and the lumber carted away. They had advertised the meeting extensively in the states and had arranged for a number of stables to come over. The Cuban Racing Association was without funds and the American firm was forced to go down to the Cuban pockets and supply the money for the building of new stalls. This was done at a cost of something like $8,000. The track also required a lot of attention, the grandstand had to be remodeled and a new paddock erected. They had to make good their word to the horsemen, as it was on their guarantee that they shipped here. Of course there is a chance of Smith & Perry getting back a big portion of this amount provided the meeting continues to improve, and the indications are that it will. Saturdays and Sundays are both big days, while Tuesdays and Thursdays will probably be light ones.

The racing here up to date has been much better than one would expect. The fields have been evenly matched and a majority of the races have furnished interesting contests. There are a number of good horses racing here, among them Sally Preston, Hall-fax, Trey of Spades, Cloisteress, Manheimer, Artful Dodger, Momentum, Chief Hayes, Retient, Lavy to, Laughing Eyes, Roseboro, Eustacian, Enonite, Dew of Dawn, St. Aubaire, Solon Shingle, Water Cooler, Hawksflight, Malediction, Elsa F., L'Amour, Clifton Forge and Enlist. There are several others which have not as yet gone to the post. James Robertson has done well with the horses he has brought here, Sally Preston and Sister Phyllis. The former started twice last week and won on both occasions, while Sister Phyllis won once and finished third in her other start. Hinchcliffe, Troxler, A. Martin, Noel, G. Liebert, G. Mulvey, W. Ott, Garwood and W. Fischer are the best riders here.

Sam Parmer, who is looking after the track at Almandares, has the going in excellent condition and some fast times have been made, considering the construction of the course. The track is a peculiarly shaped one. The stretch is a little over a furlong in length. From the grandstand there is a long curve to the backstretch, where the track shows off directly north for about a half mile. There is a sharp turn and another straight run for about a quarter of a mile in the direction of the grandstand, and then the final turn into the homestretch. The peculiar construction hides the horses from view during most of the running and this is a bad thing, as the Cubans like to see the horses during the entire race. There is a dense growth of weeds in the infield and this also in a measure tends to obstruct the view. A splendid three-quarter mile track could be easily constructed on the plant at a small expense and it seems as though this will be necessary, as it will add considerable more enthusiasm to the sport. The Cubans are the greatest bettors in the world. They are good losers, too, and it is only a question of time before racing on the island will be a national sport. In the early days of the Jai Alai in Havana this game was run at a loss. The profits now are enormous, the yearly dividends being something like 150 per cent. Baseball was a losing venture here for the first few years. On Wednesday last 21,000 persons witnessed a baseball game between the Almandares team and the Cincinnati Reds. The Cubans are wonderfully good baseball players and they are especially strong in the pitching department. Only one hit was made off one of the local pitchers by the Reds in twenty-four innings and the Almandares have won three of the four games played to date.

The better element of Cubans love racing and they are bound to turn out in time. There is no club house at Almandares, but there is a row of private boxes in the extreme rear of the stand. On the opening day President-elect Gomez and a party of friends witnessed the races from the state box. Senator Gomez is an admirer of out-door sports and is especially fond of racing. Just at present he is on a pleasure trip to the other end of the island, but on his return to Havana he has promised to be a regular attendant at the course. The tourist season begins after the holidays and it is expected that a number of visitors will be attracted by the races.

At the conclusion of the present meeting in Havana the stables will be shipped to Tampa, where a meeting will be given in conjunction with the Florida state fair.

There have been several sales of horses here during the past few days, among those changing hands being the two-year-old Escutcheon, which J. S. Smith purchased of S. Michaels for $500. Trey of Snades, which J. W. Pangle brought here from Baltimore, is now in the stable of G. Brown, he latter purchasing the horse on Saturday for $500. Smith and Brown are both residents of the island.

SAN ANTONIO'S AUSPICIOUS OPENING.

San Antonio, Tex., December 12.—An attendance of 12,000 witnessed the opening of the nineteen days mid-winter meeting at the fair grounds. Thirteen layers drew in for two days. The betting was light but will improve. Recent rains made the meeting heavy and holding and was partially responsible for the defeat of all the favorites. Jockey Molesworth's good horsemanship was a feature. He brought home four of the afternoon's winners. E.
Winners & Co. won two of the purses, including the feature race. Lomond, after his victory, was bid up $100 over his entered price but was retained.
Judge Murphy received word today that Roger Minton would ship his string here from El Paso.
J. C. Louder's Uncle Tim died today as a result of lung fever contracted en route from Beaumont.

BALTIMORE TO HAVE EXTENDED RACING.

Baltimore, Md., December 12.—At a meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club today it was decided that the liberal patronage and resulting prosperity of 1908 were such as to justify longer meetings in 1909.
Accordingly it has been decided to ask the Jockey Club for more days of racing than were asked for this year and if they are granted the Monumental City season will open with a six-days spring meeting, scheduled for the latter part of April and early May. A fall meeting is also on the program and is carded for the latter part of October, lasting fourteen days. This program gives Baltimore thirty days of racing in 1909.

COMPLETE ENGLISH RACING STATISTICS.

Records of Jockeys, Owners, Horses and Trainers
for the Flat Racing of This Year.London, November 30.—The English flat racing season of 1908 is over and Danny Maher, the American rider, is at the top of the list of winning jockeys, both in percentage and the number of winning mounts. This has been Maher's most successful season during the nine years he has been riding on the English turf. His grand average for the nine years is 24.34 and only once during that time didhe average lower than 20.00, a remarkable record.
F. Wootton, the fifteen-year-old Australian boy, was Maher's most formidable opponent for the leading honors and finished the season in second place with 129 wins, although he was suspended for a whole month.W. Higgs, who was the leading jockey in 1906 and 1907, while not riding in the form he displayed in former years and in the season in second place and finished third with 124 wins.The records of the twenty leading jockeys are as follows:

It is always a matter of courtesy to place King Edward's name at the top of the list of winning owners, no matter what his total may be. The winnings of the royal horses during the past season were almost double of that of last year, but at that they have not proved as good as it was hoped they would.J. B. Joel is the largest winner of the season, his horses having earned the sum of $131,230, the product of nineteen races won. To his grand four-year-old, Your Majesty, which contributed $96,430 to the above named sum is most credit due for the wonderful success of Mr. Joel's stable.L. Neumann is next on the list of winning owners, four of his horses earning $68,770, of which sum Siberia is responsible for $48,410. Mr. Fairlie owes his high position in this list solely to Bayardo, which won seven races and $65,190 and retired for the season unbeaten.August Belmont and Richard Croker appear well up in the list of winning owners, the former with the sum of $33,615 and the latter with $31,615.
The following is a complete list of those owners who have won $20,000 or more each:

Your Majesty, the great three-year-old son of Persimmon, although only winning four races, easily leads the money-earning horses for the season of 1908. He captured the valuable Eclipse Stakes at Sandown, worth $44,350 to the winner, and was also the winner of the St. Leger, the value of which was $32,350. His other two successes were in the St.
James Palace Stakes at Ascot and the St. George Stakes at Liverpool.Bayardo, besides being the champion two-year-old of the year, is second on the list of money-earning horses with $65,190 to his credit. Bayardo won all the seven races in which he started and was completely extended, retiring to winter quarters with an unbeaten record. His victories were in the New Stakes, National Breeders' Produce Stakes, Richmond Stakes, Middle Park Plate and several others.
Signorinetta, the best on the list through her victories in the Derby and the Oaks, for which achievements her owner was personally congratulated by

Persimmon, now dead, heads the list of winning sires for the season of 1908 with the fine aggregate of $140,423, which, however, is considerably below the amount credited to him when he figured at the head of the list in 1902, during which year his get won close to $185,000. The chief contributor to his total this year was Mr. Joel's Your Majesty.
St. Frusquin, which finished such a close second to Gallinule last year, is again in that position, his total for the season being $117,455, of which Rhodora was responsible for $31,985.Bay Ronald holds third position in the list of winning sires by virtue of the remarkable success of the unbeaten Bayardo, which contributed to his sire's total the product of seven races won, the sum of $65,190.

C. Morton, trainer for J. B. Joel, is the leading trainer of the past season as far as the value of races won is concerned. His skillful handling of Joel's horses was in a great measure responsible for the great showing which that stable made this year.A. Taylor, who handled the unbeaten Bayardo, is second on the list of trainers, and the sum which the horses he trained won this year is larger than the total credited to him last year when he was the leading trainer.F. Hartigan, who until last season was promi-nently identified with the jumpers, while seventh on the list of trainers, has sent more winners to the post during the past season than any other trainer.Chevalier Ginstrelli, who won the Derby and Oaks with Signorinetta, figures in the list with his two victories, because he was his own trainer.The record of the twenty leading trainers is as follows:

STATISTICS OF BEAUMONT RACING.

The twelve-days meeting of the Beaumont Racing Association, which came to an end December 5, was the third meeting given by that association and proved to be the most successful.The attendance was beyond the expectations of the most optimistic, and every one seems especially pleased with the conduct of every one connected with the racing. The record of the meeting was improved with the passing of this meeting, and it is believed that with this and similar meets recently closed over the state, which have been equally as satisfactory, that any anti-racing legislation asked for in the next legislature, which meets in January, will not find many listeners.The money distributed by the association during the twelve days of racing was not, as is often the case, won by only a few owners, but was rather equally divided among a large number, of whom the following won $200 or more each:

Owner.	Won.	Owner.	Won.
C. N. Freeman	$730	J. Hoffman	$300

Went to post at 1:53. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Prince Ahmed forced Warner Griswell to top speed until just before entering the stretch, where he easily shook the latter off and, taking an easy lead, won easily. Netting, in close quarters to the final sixteenth, got clear and finishing with a rush, missed Sky out in the last stride. The latter ran well and, in a sharp last eighth drive, tied only in the closing strides. Adoration finished with a rush after a rough journey. Fleming tied in the last fifty yards. Warner Griswell ran well to the stretch and retired. The winner was entered for $500; no bid.

Went to post at 2:45. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; second and third the same. Glorio was clearly outpaced for the first half, but came with a meteoric rush in the final sixteenth under keen punishment and, overhauling Colloquy in the closing strides, won drawing clear. Colloquy set a killing pace nearly throughout and finished gamely, but was unable to withstand the winner's sensational challenge. Centre Shot began slowly, but moved up fast in the final quarter, finishing resolutely in a fierce drive. Roseal, unable to withstand the great early pace, tired badly. Rifleman and Burger finished fast. Redondo ran a fast half and tired.

TIMES MADE AT SPRINTING DISTANCES.

Fast Performances of the Present Year at a Half-Mile, Five-Eighths and Three-Quarters.

The art of track conditioning has progressed so favorably during the past few years that fast time over our race courses these days attracts no great attention. During the season which is fast drawing to an end some exceedingly fast time has been made at the different tracks throughout the country. For a horse to run a half in 48 or better is considered a fast performance, but during the present year some thirty horses have accomplished this feat. All but one of this number were two-year-olds, and that one, the three-year-old Smiley Corbett, with 116 pounds up, ran the fastest half-mile of the year at the Seattle track, covering the distance in 46 1/2. Rose Queen and Listowel have both done a half in 47, while the fast youngster, Workbox, has stepped the same distance in 47 flat.

Five-eighths and three-quarters of a mile are popular sprinting distances, and some exceptionally fast and interesting contests were seen at those distances during the present season.

There were twenty races at five-eighths of a mile that were run in less than 1:00, a truly remarkable record. Silver Stocking equaled the American record for the distance when at Seattle on August 17 she ran five-eighths in 58 1/2. Silver Stocking and Jeanne d'Arc have on two different occasions done this distance in less than 1:00.

A few years back a race at three-quarters in less than 1:13 was considered exceptionally fast, but nowadays running the distance faster is of frequent occurrence. To the three-year-old, Nimbus, goes the credit for the fastest three-quarters run in this country, when, on August 18 at Empire City, he astonished the turf world with a wonderful burst of speed and established a new American record for three-quarters of a mile, running the distance in 1:11 1/2. He nearly duplicated this performance the following week when he went the same distance in 1:11 1/2. Tompee and Early Tide both ran this distance in 1:11 1/2 and only recently Royal Tourist created a new track record at Oakland when he peeled off three-quarters in 1:11 1/2. The following tables show the fastest time made at one-half mile, five-eighths mile and three-quarters mile from January 1 to December 10, together with name of horse, age, weight, track and date:
